

Contents

Foreword ix

Acknowledgments xi

Introduction: Learning to Listen xiii

PART I: DEATH IN THEORY

- 1 Giving Death Its Due: An Interview with Robert Jay Lifton
(June 8, 1990, New York, New York) 3
- 2 Traumatic Temporality: An Interview with Jean Laplanche
(October 23, 1994, Paris, France) 25
- 3 A Record That Has Yet to Be Made: An Interview with Dori Laub
(June 15–16, 2013, Woodbury, Connecticut) 47
- 4 Mad Witnesses: A Conversation with Françoise Davoine and
Jean-Max Gaudillière (May 18, 2012, Burgundy, France) 81

PART II: A REVOLUTIONARY ACT

- 5 The AIDS Crisis Is Not Over: A Conversation with Gregg Bordowitz,
Douglas Crimp, and Laura Pinsky. Conducted with Thomas Keenan
(September 25, 1991, New York, New York) 113
- 6 The Politics of Trauma: A Conversation with Judith Herman
(May 16, 2013, Cambridge, Massachusetts) 131
- 7 The Body Keeps the Score: An Interview with Bessel van der Kolk
(June 17, 2013, Boston, Massachusetts) 153
- 8 The Haunted Self: An Interview with Onno van der Hart
(July 16, 2013, Amsterdam, The Netherlands) 179
- 9 Words and Wounds: An Interview with Geoffrey Hartman
(September 11, 1994, New Haven, Connecticut) 213

- 10 A Revolutionary Act—The Video Testimonies of the Nia Project:
An Interview with Members of the Grady Nia Team
(October 2 and 9, 2012, Atlanta, Georgia) 237

PART III: THE SYSTEM IS WEeping

- 11 Apocalypse Terminable and Interminable: An Interview with
Arthur S. Blank Jr. (January 23, 2013, Washington, DC) 271
- 12 Filming Madness: A Conversation with Mieke Bal and Françoise Davoine (November 26, 2011, Vevey, Switzerland) 297
- 13 A Ghost in the House of Justice: A Conversation with Shoshana Felman
(August 7, 2013, Tel Aviv, Israel) 321

Index 355