CONTENTS

Acknowledgments vii

1 Mapping the Terrain: Youth and Digital Media 1
   William G. Tierney and Suneal Kolluri

2 Equitable Education for Democracy in the Digital Age:
   A District-Wide Approach 25
   Joseph Kahne, Christina Evans, Erica Hodgin, and Young Whan Choi

3 Computer Science for All: A School Reform Framework
   for Broadening Participation in Computing 45
   Joanna Goode, Julie Flapan, and Jane Margolis

4 Facilitating Digital Access: The Role of Empowerment Agents 66
   Zoë B. Corwin and Antar A. Tichavakunda

5 Reimagining STEM: Catalyzing Digital Media and Learning
   for Civic Engagement 84
   S. Craig Watkins

6 Diversifying Digital Clubhouses: Creating Pathways of Opportunity for Girls in Games and Technology 105
   Amanda Ochsner

7 Supporting Youth to Envision Careers in Computer Science 126
   Cristle Martin

8 African American Youth Tumbling Toward Mental Health
   Support-Seeking and Positive Academic Outcomes 151
   Lynette Kvasny and Fay Cobb Payton
Contents

9 Black Student Lives Matter: Online Technologies and the Struggle for Educational Justice 172
David J. Leonard and Safiya Umoja Noble

Conclusion. Toward Digital Equity: The Role of Context, Quality, and Connections 194
Amanda Ochsner, Zoë B. Corwin, and William G. Tierney

Contributors 203

Index 000